Note: Students should obtain student visas before leaving the U.S. Indian Consulates outside the U.S. will be unfamiliar with the special provision created for American students participating in programs in India. Applications for student visas at non-U.S. Indian Consulates have encountered extended delays and misunderstanding, disrupting the travel plans of some students.

Students whose parents were born in Pakistan or Bangladesh should apply for student visas at Indian Consulates in the U.S. at least three months before the anticipated date of departure. There will be a delay in the issuance of these visas.
