Directions to BLCU Campus 去北京语言文化大学的路线

Exchange Money:

If you do not have any Chinese currency, upon exiting the customs area of the Beijing International airport you will need to proceed to one of the currency exchange windows or to the ATM machine. To change money at the currency exchange window, you will need to provide your passport as identification. A fee of approximately 50 RMB (US$6) may be charged. The taxi fare will be approximately 100 RMB (US$12), which should be paid in cash. Tips are accepted but not expected.

Finding the Taxi stand:

Upon securing enough cash for the taxi ride, push your luggage cart outside to the taxi stand area. Show this page with your destination to the taxi stand manager who will then call out to the next driver your desired destination and then direct you to the specific car into which you can load your luggage into the trunk. DO NOT accept a ride from people who approach you in the airport asking if you want a taxi.

It is common to sit in the front, passenger seat, but it is your option to sit either in front or back.

Be sure to show the driver your destination's address in Chinese. Some drivers know a little English, but the Chinese language address will be greatly appreciated.
